There are no overlapping goods or services. There is no connection between the registrant's goods and the goods and services in the subject application. There is no precedent for such a far reaching refusal and applicant requests that the Examiner withdraw the 2(d) refusal.

The Examiner included as evidence to the Final Refusal, several examples from the Internet showing that manufacturers of cooking appliances occasionally offer cook books or cooking guides with small appliance products. These examples included Big Green Egg, NuWave2, As Seen on TV and Crock-Pot. The Examiner relies on Internet sources only and did not submit any registrations as evidence of related goods in the 4/1/14 Office Action. (Several registrations were attached to the 9/9/13 Office Action. Those registrations were addressed in Applicant's 3/10/14 Response. Subsequently, the 2(d) refusal relating to four (4) of the five (5) cited registrations was withdrawn.)

The Examining Attorney relies upon In re GBI Tile & Stone, Inc., 92 USPQ2d 1366 (TTAB 2009) for the premise that "evidence obtained from the Internet may be used to support a determination.....that the goods and/or services are related." Applicant argues that GBI Tile & Stone does not support Internet "evidence establishes that the same entity commonly provides relevant goods and markets the same goods under the same mark." This "evidence" does not "establish" anything. Applicant notes that none of the "evidence" attached relates to a connection between appliances and "arrangement of tradeshow's."

Rather, the GBI Tile & Stone decision clearly follows Mucky Duck and holds that "third-party registrations which cover a number of differing goods and/or services, which are based on use in commerce, although not evidence that the marks are shown therein are in use on a commercial scale or that the public is familiar with them, may nevertheless have some probative value to the extent that they may service to suggest that goods or services are of a type which may emanate from a single source." In re Mucky Duck Mustard Co., 6 USPQ2d 1467 (TTAB 1988).

Therefore, the weight of evidence is the same in this matter. The Examiner's attachment is not dispositive of the 2(d) issue and has some probative value at best. Indeed, the Applicant agrees that sometimes manufacturers of cooking appliances also produce instruction books or booklets on cooking. This fact is not evidence that consumers associate all cookbooks with cooking appliances or believe that all cooking appliances come with cookbooks. The Examiner's attachment is not evidence that consumers expect cookbooks and appliances to emanate from the same source. Indeed, the Examiner did not provide any evidence that Green Egg, NuWave2, As Seen on TV and Crock-Pot companies own registrations covering "domestic electric cookers" and "cookery books."

Applicant's search of the PTO database shows that there are at least 619 trademarks registered for "cook books" in Class 16 and no goods/services relating to cooking appliances or tradeshow's. A representative sample of 20 registrations is attached and made of record at Exhibit A. The chart below shows the details of the 20 registrations.

The TTAB has stated on many occasions that the goods and services in third-party evidence should include both the goods/services in the subject application and the goods/services in the cited registration. See In re W.W. Henry Co., 82 USPQ 2d 1213 (TTAB 2007). In this case, none of the examples offered by the Examiner show the use of both “cookery books” and “domestic electric cookers” or “disposable charcoal grills.” There is simply no overlap here. Therefore, the Examiner has not put forward sufficient evidence to show likelihood of confusion.

For the reasons stated above, the Applicant requests that the Examiner reconsider the remaining 2(d) refusal and send the application to Publication for Opposition purposes.

Request for Reconsideration after Final Action To the Commissioner for Trademarks:

Application serial no. 79104322 has been amended as follows:

ARGUMENT(S)

In response to the substantive refusal(s), please note the following:

This Request is filed in response to the Final Office Action issued on April 1, 2014.

In the Final Office Action, the Examining Attorney maintains that there is a likelihood of confusion between U.S. Reg. # 1,220,515 and the subject application. Applicant argues that there is no basis for the Final Refusal and that the Examiner should reconsider and withdraw the 2(d) refusal at this time.

The cited application reads as follows:

U.S. Reg. # 1,220,4114 for NOMA for goods in:

Class 9: Floodlight holders, fixtures, flasher plugs, bulb testers, plugs and receptacles.

Class 11: Electric decorative ornaments, lights, floodlights, lanterns, string lighting sets, candeliers, candelabras; fuses, reflectors; domestic electric cookers; disposable charcoal grills; and illuminated simulated fireplaces, churches, houses and artificial Christmas trees.

Classes 4, 6, 8 and 24 are now "Cancelled" from that registration.

U.S. Serial No. 79/104332 for NOMA for goods/services in:

Class 16: cookery books

Class 41: Education and training services, namely, arranging conferences, seminars, symposiums, workshops and lectures concerning gastronomy; entertainment and cultural activities, namely, arrangement of shows and competitions within the field of gastronomy

Class 43: Services for providing food and drink; temporary housing accommodation

As the Examiner can plainly see, the registration and the applicant have no overlapping Classes. There are no overlapping goods or services. There is no connection between the registrant's goods and the goods and services in the subject application. There is no precedent for such a far reaching refusal and applicant requests that the Examiner withdraw the 2(d) refusal.

The Examiner included as evidence to the Final Refusal, several examples from the Internet showing that manufacturers of cooking appliances occasionally offer cook books or cooking guides with small appliance products. These examples included Big Green Egg, NuWave2, As Seen on TV and Crock-Pot. The Examiner relies on Internet sources only and did not submit any registrations as evidence of related goods in the 4/1/14 Office Action. (Several registrations were attached to the 9/9/13 Office Action. Those registrations were addressed in Applicant's 3/10/14 Response. Subsequently, the 2(d) refusal relating to four (4) of the five (5) cited registrations was withdrawn.)

The Examining Attorney relies upon In re GBI Tile & Stone, Inc., 92 USPQ2d 1366 (TTAB 2009) for the premise that "evidence obtained from the Internet may be used to support a determination.....that the goods and/or services are related." Applicant argues that GBI Tile & Stone does not support Internet "evidence establishes that the same entity commonly provides relevant goods and markets the same goods under the same mark." This "evidence" does not "establish" anything. Applicant notes that none of the "evidence" attached relates to a connection between appliances and "arrangement of tradeshowes."

Rather, the GBI Tile & Stone decision clearly follows Mucky Duck and holds that "third-party registrations which cover a number of differing goods and/or services, which are based on use in commerce, although not evidence that the marks are shown therein are in use on a commercial scale or that the public is familiar with them, may nevertheless have some probative value to the extent that they may serve to suggest that goods or services are of a type which may emanate from a single source.” In re Mucky Duck Mustard Co., 6 USPQ2d 1467 (TTAB 1988).

Therefore, the weight of evidence is the same in this matter. The Examiner’s attachment is not dispositive of the 2(d) issue and has some probative value at best. Indeed, the Applicant agrees that sometimes manufacturers of cooking appliances also produce instruction books or booklets on cooking. This fact is not evidence that consumers associate all cookbooks with cooking appliances or believe that all cooking appliances come with cookbooks. The Examiner’s attachment is not evidence that consumers expect cookbooks and appliances to emanate from the same source. Indeed, the Examiner did not provide any evidence that Green Egg, NuWave2, As Seen on TV and Crock-Pot companies own registrations covering “domestic electric cookers” and “cookery books.”

Applicant’s search of the PTO database shows that there are at least 619 trademarks registered for “cook books” in Class 16 and no goods/services relating to cooking appliances or tradeshow.
